SAVE THE DATE. Lamoille Neighbors is sponsoring a talk by Bill McKibben March 12th.

Bill McKibben is an author and environmentalist who in 2014 was awarded the Right Livelihood Prize, sometimes called the 'alternative Nobel.' His 1989 book The End of Nature is regarded as the first book for a general audience about climate change and has appeared in 24 languages. He's gone on to write a dozen more books. Bill is a founder of 350.org, the first planet-wide, grassroots climate change movement, which has organized twenty thousand rallies around the world. His newest book Falter is a powerful and sobering call to arms, to save not only our planet but also our humanity itself. Bill McKibben is a Schumann Distinguished Scholar at Middlebury College.

Twenty members attended the Feast Friday December 13th. Thank you Olea for hosting. Great food, good conversation and lots of laughter.

Joan Greene, Lamoille Neighbors Vice-President, attended the 11th Annual Conference of the Village to Village Network this fall in Chicago: Connecting Generations.

“Who will change my light bulb?”

This was a question posed by a Village to Village member from New Zealand at the conference.

Hundreds of conference attendees from across the U.S. and as far away as Australia and New Zealand met and shared ideas. They represented some of the 260 open villages and 80 developing villages in this national movement.

There were many speakers, workshops and time to connect with other villages. Joan returned from the conference with ideas and strategies for our board moving forward in 2020.

Each year there is a different theme for the conference and this year the emphasis was on combating loneliness and social isolation by connecting generations through activities. Examples are seniors providing story telling and oral history with children, school groups engaging elders through technology, seniors reading to youth, health screening by college volunteers and more.

Many speakers addressed the need to provide services to members of the middle class who did not qualify for government or poverty programs. A.A.R.P. related that by 2030, 43% of older adults will not be eligible for most public programs. There was much discussion about the “forgotten” middle class and how villages such as Lamoille Neighbors are in a unique position to serve that population.

Volunteerism was a common theme in many of the presentations and roundtable discussions Joan attended. Participating in village activities gives one purpose and meaning. Conference speakers urged villages to work to combat ageism and promote more positive self-perceptions of aging. The volunteer changing the light bulb for a senior is part of this grassroots movement of social change.

This annual conference is a way for Lamoille Neighbors to meet and share ideas and information with other villages. Attending gives us inspiration as we look towards our future.

Fraud Watch

Six members of Lamoille Neighbors attended the Vermont Fraud Watch Presentation by AARP at the Civic Center in Morrisville. We learned that no one will EVER call from the IRS, Social Security or Medicare unless they are returning your call. These calls are 100% scam. The top scams in Vermont are imposter scams, computer tech support scams and debt collection. In 2016, 21 million people lost 19 billion dollars in the U.S.. We have a file of information in the office from AARP about fraud prevention if you have questions.

AARP's weekly podcast, The Perfect Scam, profiles America's biggest scam stories. The series introduces listeners to compelling personal stories from scam victims and their families. Interviews with professional con artists and leading experts on the topic pull back the curtain on how scammers operate and share tips with listeners on how best to protect themselves. Here's a link to a holiday scam.
